Washington, November 14.—(Special.)-

It turns out that Secretary Charles Fos ter gave out the "tip" that Senator Sherman was to resign his seat in the senate and the secretary of the treasury is now full of hot, seething anger because the willy John refused to rush out and confirm it. There is no longer any doubt that the tripartite agreement between Mc-Kinley. Sherman and Foster, charged by the Foraker people during the flerce senatorial fight in Ohio last winter, but strennously denied at the time, did exist. According to this agreement, McKinley and Foster were to aid Sherman's re-election in order to down Foraker; then Sherman was to resign to make way for Foster's admission to the senate; and McKinley was to enjoy the usufruct of an anti-Foraker control of the state, in case opportunity presented itself for his nomination at Minneapolis, or if not, that he was to be put forward as the presidential candidate in 1806. McKinley and Foster car-ried out their contracts and the entire state and federal machinery was used to accomplish Foraker's defeat. Since his

The Republican National Committee's Debts Said to Re Large.

New York, November 14.—Deputy Sheriff Young received an attachment today for $19,424 against the Brodix Publishing Company, of this city, and of Washington, in faver of Freeman & Bro., printers, for work done and materials furnished between August 4th and October 27th. The printing was done for the republican national campaign committee. Brodix & Co., who have been in busi-

"Oh, I'm too busy to attend to that now," remarked the author of the force bill, as he turned on his heel and walked away.

"I hope you'll not be too busy to attend to this," said the attorney, and shoved into the election expert's hand a summons in the case decided against him yesterday.

The sheriff served attachments today on number of persons, including Cornelius N. Bilss. treasurer of the republican national committee. It is alleged, came out of the fight $50,000 in debt.

And Chairman Harrity Satisfied with the Work Done.

Philadelphia, November 14.—Chairman Harrity, of the national committee today sand that in the recent contest Pennsylvania democrats had contributed most largely to the campaign fund and that most of the money had been collected in very small amounts. The committee, he says, was enabled to pay all the expenses of the campaign from the liberal contributions received and is entirely repaid for the trouble. Mr. Harrity is about to leave the city with his family for a few days' vacation, after which he will resume his duties at Harrisburg as secretary of the common-Harrisburg as secretary of the

New York, November 14.—Cleveland did not receive all his callers today. He complained during the morning of having a slight billious attack, but later in the day he said it had worn away. He admitted, however, that he felt fatigued, as he has been kept busy every day since the election receiving visits from prominent democrats who desire to offer their congratulations.

There is Hope of Victory.

Columbus, O., Növember 14.—Returns from fifteen more counties were rectived by the secretary of state today. Forty-six counties now counted casts about one-fourth of the entire vote. They give W. A. Taylor, democrat, 122,471, and S. M. Taylor, republican, 121,442 votes. Danford, heau of the republican electoral ticket, has 123,240 and the others 122,401 votes. S. M. Taylor, runs behind the electoral ticket bit votes. W. A. Taylor, behind his electoral ticket, 769. Democratic figures show that Taylor, democrat, is elected secretary of state by about six hundred, and that without doubt J. R. Seward, democratic presidential elector, the first on the ticket, is chosen by a reasonable piurality. There Is Hope of Victory.

accomplish Foraker's defeat. Since his election, however, Sherman has shown no inclination to resign, but Foster, though impatient, did not dream that Sherman would go back on what he claims was a specific bargain,

As the months passed on, however, and Sherman still remained silent, Foster grew somewhat alarmed. He sent Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Rathbone Mobile, Ala., November 14.—The democrate of Mobile and the first district of Alabama of Mobile and the first district of Alabama, ratified the election of Cleveland and Stevenson tonight with a parade and torchlight procession, which was one of the largest and most enthusiastic ever seen in this city. The procession was more than two miles in length and the transparencies and fireworks illuminated the whole city. The militia and every white society in the city joined in the parade, as did also a number of negro or ganizations.

grew somewhat alarmed. He sent Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Rathbone out to Ohio to feel the temper of the legislature in order to determine whether Foraker could defeat him. Rathbone's report, a confidential friend of Foster's tells me, was satisfactory. But Foster waited, not desiring to force Sherman's hand, in case Harrison's re-election should insure his continuance at the head of the treasury department. When the returns from the election, however, overwhelmed Harrison and served notice on Washington, November 14.—Chairman Holman, of the appropriations committee of the house of representatives, today issued a call for the committee to meet in Washington at 12 o'clock on November 28th. It is the intention of Chairman Holman to prepare the appropriation bills as fast as possible with the view to securing early consideration by congress. whelmed Harrison and served notice on him that, in four months, he would be a statesman out of a job, Foster confined it was time to have a show of hands. Accordingly, through his agency, the "tip" was given to the newspapers that Sherman was about to resign to make way for Foraker. Then the interviewers hustled up to Sherman's residence. Sherman without equivocation or exaston denied the story of his intended Montgomery, Ala., November 14.—M. What-ley, fostenist candidate for congress in the fifth district, will contest the seat of Judge Cobb in the fifty-third congress. He claims that ballot boxes returning majorities for him in Lowndes, Autauga and Macon counties have been stuffed and stolen to the extent of robbing him of about three thousand ma-jority, to which he is entitled.

Win Not Be a tecpublican. Emporia, Knasas, November 14.—Official returns from Gemwood county give only two majority for Waterhouse for state senator. As Lyon county gives Levi Dombault, people's party and republican party candidate twenty-two, the latter is elected. This makes it certain that the next United States senator from this state will not be a recombiling.

RAILROAD MEN IN COUNCIL.

Trying to Stop the Cutting of Rates—Who Are Attending the Meeting.

Topeka, Kan., November 14.—Now that the populists are assured of a majority on joint I allot in the legislature, speculation is ripe as to who will succeed Perkins as United States senator. While the democrats assisted the populists in achieving the victory in Kansas, no one seriously considers a democrat as a senatorial possibility. Judge John Martin, who more than any other man is responsible for the action of the democratic state convention in endorsing the populist state and electoral tickets, has been working assiduously during the campaign to secure pledges from the populist legislative candidates for himself for senator. He has advocated all of the principles of the populist party and is now only a democrat in name. Notwithstanding this Martin is not believed to be in the race. At this time the favorites are Judge Frank Doster and John W. Breidenthal, chairman of the populist state central committee, both avowed state socialists, Doster having talked that doctrine from the stump and Breidenthal being at the head of the socialist colony planted on the shores of Topolocampo bay in Mexico. Both were candidates two years ago when W. A. Peffer defeated John J. Ingalls. They belong to the most radical wing of the party. Doster is a scholar and lawyer of narked ability. He was formerly a republican. Breidenthal is a business man and has met, with some success. He was originally a greenbacker and later was leader of the union labor party. Jerry Simpson, since his unexpected re-election to congress, is not comidered a possibility, although he declines to say whether he will be a candidate or not. Attorney Genereal Ives is a possibility. He is a people's party democrat of great popularity. Are Attending the Meeting.

New York, November 14.—There was an earnest and protracted conference of owners and presidents of southern railroad and steam ship lines today at the Fifth Avenue hotel. A general desire to remedy the present demoralized condition of rates throughout the South led to the calling of the meeting by Mr. W. P. Clyde. Every railroad and steamship line which was invited to send representatives reported except one,—the Mobile and Ohio road—and that road will be represented tomorrow. H. B. Plant presided. Every important road running into the south, including the Louisville and Nashville, Illinois Central, Central of Georgia, by H. B. Holmes, the various Richmond Terminal lines and the southern California railway were represented usually by its president and two or three other officers.

ally by its president and two or three other officers.

E. B. Stahlman, commissioner of the Southern Railway and Steamship Association acted as secretary. It is expected that Colonel Clark, president of the Mobile and Ohio railway, and H. M. Comer, president and receiver of the Georgia Central, will probably be here on Thursday.

The object of the meeting were fully explained by Mr. Clyde and others, and a long discussion disclosed the fact that there was practical unanimity as to the necessity of taking immediate action to stop the existing rate cutting and prevent threatened compilications among southern railroads. There was a generally expressed disposition that the railroad people should themselves regulate the rates of transportation instead of permitting a few shippers to do it. The following committee was appointed to revise and report a plan of action: John M. Robinson, Colonel H. S. Haines, Milton Smith, Colonel C. H. Phinay Stuyvesant Fish, and W. P. Clyde. They had a brief session and will probably report at the general meeting boday.

One of the important suggestions made was that an executive board of the Southern Railway and Steamship Association be appointed to consist of the presidents of the respective lines, instead of traffic managers as at present.

KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

or to Mr. Powderly May its Meeted,

New York, November 14.—Judgment was intered today against John I. Davchport for the rent of his former apartments on Fifth avenue. An execution was issued to the sheriff and he will try and find property to satisfy the judgment, which is for $303.47. In 1888 Davenport rented from Charlotte Weatherly, second floor at 420 Fifth avenue. He first took a year's lease but upon the expiration continued to live there for five months. He moved out owing the landlady, as she says, for three months. Her attorney has been trying to collect the rent ever since. The complaint sets forth that the last attempt was made November 1. 1892, when the attorney asked him to settle.

"Oh. I'm too busy to attend to that now." He Refusing to Serve Again.

St. Louis, November 14.—Delegates to the sixteenth annual convention of the Knights of Labor, which is to be held in this city tomorrow, are coming in slowly. A prominent member of the order said to a reporter today:

"It is quite likely all the old officers will be resigned without consolitor. Some times "It is quite likely all the old officers will be re-elected without opposition. Some time ago there was talk of Mr. Powderly resigning at this meeting, and his successor would have to be elected. This is not the case, for Mr. Powderly does not have to resign. Should Mr. Powderly, however, refuse to allow his name to go before the convention for re-election, it is possible his successor will be A. W. Wright, of Toronto, as he is one of the best men in the order."

Grand Rapids, Mich., November 14.—Delos A. Blodgett, a prominent man, has surprised the community by retiring from business, and dividing his estate of $7,200,000 into three equal parts, giving one to his son, John W. Blodgett; one to his son-in-law, Edward Lowe and wife, and retaining the other third for himself. His reason is that he has made all the money he desires, and wishes no further business cares.

The New Minister to Turkey.

Portland. Ore., November 14.—D. P. Thomson, of this city, is in receipt of a telegram grom Secretary of State Fosier tendering him the appointment as minister to Turkey to succeed Solomon Hirsch resigned, providing he can enter upon his duties by December 15th. Mr. Thomson will accept the appointment, if he can arrange his private business affairs satisfactorily.

Probabilities of an Extra Session-Speak Orisp Will, of Course, Have No Opposition.

Washington, D. C., November 14.—(Special.)—There is a good deal of premature cabinet gossip. When the proper time comes Mr. Cleveland will give consideration to the composition of his cabinet. His own most intimate friends know that he has not as yet given the slightest him of the subject to them. Not one single member of Mr. Cleveland's first enbinet was determined upon until at least three month. termined upon until at least three mon after the November election. At this Mr. Cleveland has a much better acqu ance with men of reputation than he ance with men of reputation than he sessed eight years ago, consequently he likely to form a judgment in the matter his cabinet in a somewhat shorter per but under any circumstances it will be well before the public need expect any author ed announcement. Eight years ago he Cleveland was very much dependent the advice of others, coming into the a of national affairs as he did with no pre-vious training and a limited idea of cabuse association. Some very poor material was thrust upon his attention and it is truly marvelous that he made as good selection as he did. It seems pretty certain that Mr. Whitney would not accept the premierality of the new administration, though no doubts that he can have it if he wis doubts that he can have it if he wishes. The state department would afford him but a limited opportunity to display his wonderfully brilliant executive and administrative abilities and as Warwick, the king maker in relief maker in private life, he could probably best advance his chances for the presidertial nomination four years hence, it is known he aspires. it is known be aspires.

Mrs. Whitney, who was Senator Payne's daughter, however, is is understood, desires that her husband go to England as minister and it is considered possible that Mr. Whitney may accept the mission to the court of St. James. The fact that the Irish home rule bill will probably be passed during the nett four years might be a potent factor in persuading Mr. Whitney to go abroad. But leaving out Mr. Whitney, there is but one other member of Mr. Cleveland's former other member of Mr. Cleveland's former cabinet, Mr. Dickinson, who is at all likely to become a member of the next cabit, and there is no certainty about him. Of course the air is full of speculation in which the names of prominent leaders like Governor Campbell, of Ohio; General Pat Collins of Massechusetts (Governor Carpy of lins, of Massachusetts; Governor Gray, of Indiana, and endless succession figure, but it is all as yet the idless speculation, but the country can rely upon it, the new cabinet will be composed of men who will command public respect and confidence, men thoroughly in sympathy with the issue upon which the battle was won. Chauncey Depew facetiously relates how some imaginary democrat informed him that "platforms were made to get in on, not to stand on." Mr. Cleveland's whole public career demonstrates of the control of the career demonstrates of crat. The wiseacres above alluded to have diabetes. His age was fifty-two years and also determined that Mr. Cleveland shall he was a native of Buncombe county. He call an extra session. There is a vast deal said for and against an extra session, all of which will probably have due right in due time. An important factor in the consideration of this question is not unlikely to be the condition of the national finance. The republicans, now that the election is over, make no attempt to conceal the fact that they have swamped their treasury and there is immediate necessity of increasing the resource or ottime of the resource or others.

Attempt to Blackmail Ladies in Order to New York, November 14.—The talented young swindler known as "Lord Charles Somerset Beresford," and also as "Walter S. Beresford," "Sidney Lasceles," "Walter Eaton," and "Tom Bond," who is now serving a term of six years in the Georgia state prison has been detected, it is said, in a plot to blackmail two prominent New York society ladies, although he is behind the bars. He threatens to publish in some newspapers in New York, Chicago and other places, scandalous stories reflecting upon these ladies, in the strength of the services of some central detectives, captured Beresford at Albany. He was afterwards sent back to Georgia where he was wanted for swindling operations in Rome, Ga. He was sentenced to six years imprisonment but this has not prevented him from seeking to injure the New York women mentioned, whom he now threatens with expesure.

MURDERED AND PARTLY CREMATED.

Farmer Swarthout's Murderers Thought to Be His Sons. Morriston, Ill., November 14.—The murder and cremation of M. marthout, a wealthy farmer, has created great excitement throughout the county. His two sons were arrested for the crime and it is feared will be lynched.

In the ashes of a straw pile on his farm Swarthout's partly consumed body was found. The examination showed that he had been murdered and robbed and the body stuffed in the straw pile. He was known to have carried a large sum of money. Evidence pointed to his two sons.

A Fight at Homestead. A Fight at Homestead.

Homestead, Pa., November 14.—The town was aroused again tonight by a quarrel between a number of colored non-unionists and the Homestead colored men. The non-unionists drew their revolvers and eighteen or twenty shots were fired but no one was hit. Two white men cut a negro with a knife. Deputies arrested the white men and the two negroes. The crowd then dispersed. All is quiet, but the bitter feel-ing makes bloodshed likely.

BOGUS LOTTERY AGENTS.

How Sharpers Worked Their Little Gam Successfully. Washington, November 14.—Some time ago an individual in Montreal, Canada, representing himself as agent of the Louisiana Lottery Company, with headquarters at Montreal, sent numerous circulars into the United States advertising his lottery the United States advertising his lottery scheme, which worked successfully, the promoter rocketing $10,000 and then disappearing. The success of this operation has apparently had the effect of inducing others to enter the same field. Recently the post-office department became aware of the existence of a firm doing business under the name of J. G. Clarke & Co., with head quarters at Niagara Falls, Canada, and pretending to be agents of the Louisiana Lottery Company. As in the first instance, circulars were sent through the United States mails inviting remittances for tickets. The department took steps to nip the scheme in the bud by issuing an order stopping the payment of money orders and delivering all registered matter addressed to the firm through the United States mails.

Terre Harte, Ind., November 14.—Jesse Sykes, an old farmer residing three miles from Newport, Ind., met with a horrible death last night. He was subject to epileptic fits. About 5 o'clock he went out to feed a lot of hogs. As he did not appear for supper, one of the members of the family went out to see what was the matter. What was his horror to see the hogs tearing the entrails of the old man and devouring them. Both legs and hips were nearly stripped of fiesh. The badly mutilated remains were taken to the house. Eaten by the Hogs.

A Large Counterfeiting Schem New York, November 14.—Two men, Manuel Rodridguez, a Spaniard and Thomas P. Parr an Englishman, were arraigned today, charged with attempting counterfeiting. Parr says that he became acquainted with Rodriques three weeks ago, who told him of his plans, offering him considerable money to act as interpreter. Rodriquez is said to belong to a Spanish gang who have been planning to float a tremenduous quantity of notes through Spain, the West Indies and this country. The arrest is regarded as most important.

A Smit for Damages.

Camden, N. J., November 14.—As a sequel to the trial of Francis Ling, for murder of Mrs. Annie Miller, Miss Mary Collins, sister of the murdered woman, today brought suit against ex-Judge John W. Wescott, senior counsel for the accused negro, for $25,000 damages for slander and defamation of character.

During the trial the ex-judge referred to Miss Collin in the cross examination as "Mrs." Miller or "Mrs." Collins, and alluded to John Miller as Miss Collins's husband.

A Marderer Executed. New Haven, Conn., November 14.—Angele Petrillo was hanged in the New Haven county jail yard this forenoon for the murder of Michael Demor, his brother-in-law. The drop fell at 10:40 o'clock. At 10:55 his body was cut down and life was pronounced extinct by the surgeons in attendance.

JUSTICE MERRIMON IS DEAD.

in North Carolina History.

A Man Who Has Played an Important Part Raleigh, N. C., November 14.—(Special.)— Chief Justice Augustus Summerfield Merrimon died at 2:30 o'clock this morning diabetes. His age was fifty-two years and he was a native of Buncombe county. He had served in the legislature, as solicitor, judge, United States senator. as associate justice and chief justice and two years ago was elected to the latter position by one of the greatest majorities on record in North Carolina. He was nominated in 1868 for governor but declined and that year also declined the nomination for associate justice. He was the democratic nominee for governor in 1872, but was defeated by Tod R. Caldwell, republican.

He was a lawyer of very high ability and during the exciting administration of Governor Holden was one of the first to apply for habeas corpus writs in the cases of persons arrested by Kirk's militia.

Judge Merrimon had been in failing health for several months. His popularity was great. His funeral will be held tomorrow. All public buildings are closed. The body will lie in state in the supreme courtrooms. Judge Merrimon, while on his death bed, became a member of the Methodist church.

The council of state met today, Governor Holt presiding, and adopted the following:

"Resolved, That in the death of Chief Justice Merrimon the state has lost an eminent citizen, statesman and jurist and that the sympathies of the governor and council be extended to the family of the deceased."

The Principal Business Block Destroyed by the Flames.

Winston, N. C., November 14.—Late last night fire destroyed the principal business block of the place. Loss $30,000, insurance $250,000. The fire burned twelve hours and consumed Haines's building, the Vaughan building and the building of the First National bank—the finest block in the city. The firms burned out include Caldwell & Rupp, Vaughan & Pepper, Rosenbacher Bros., and a number of others.

The fire started in Brown's drug store. Aid was asked from Salem and Greensboro and was promptly responded to.

During the progress of the conflagration an incendiary fire broke out near the Richmond and Danville passenger depot, which consumed Abbott & Jones's tobacco warehouse and Shepard's leaf tobacco factory. Eleven horses were also burned.

R. G. Dun & Co.'s ageucy, Twin club rooms, Winston Young Men's Christian Association gynnasium and parlors and the central telephone office were all located in the building burnt in this morning's fire. At 6 o'clock p. m. a three-story storage building filled with seven carloads of hay is on fire. A strong wind sprang up and there was danger of a fire three times as destructive as this morning's, but the firemen now have it under control and will keep it confined to the building tonight.

On election day the democrats carried the third ward of the city, a republican negro stronghold, where the tobacco factory hands all live. The negroes have been saying it was done by fraud. A negro was arrested after the second fire this morning and is now in jail for saying, "I guess the damned democrats are sorry now they cheated us ont of our ward." The coolest and calmest men in town, however, refuse to believe in the incendiary origin of the fire and my the negroes would not thus take bread out of their own mouths.

The town is perfectly quiet. The people are auxious but cool. Very few of them will skeep tonight, however. A military company has been ordered out as a precautionary measure, and will patrol the city all night. The Chamber of Commerce is now in session to take steps to rebu

Columbia, S. C., November 14.—(Special.)—The capital city is hostess for the state this week, and a fair hostess she is, swept and garnished and robed in festal attire. This is the opening day of state fair week, and the masses of the people are coming Columbiawards as fast as the cars can bring them.

The schedule for the week includes scores of amusements, and the visitors will be well entertained. The fair represents not only a gathering together of the people, but ohe of its chief purposes is to enthist the products of labor, and of brain. In the midst of these festivifies the comcumists take possession of the city, and the bloodied flag symbol of riot and rebellion has been waived aloft. Then follows a saturalia of blood. The archbishop and three sisters of charity are murdered, and the beautiful city is set on fire. The empire is no more. After the last glare of the flames, the fireworks began, and for an hour the spectators were entertained with all kinds of beautiful pyrotechnic pieces. The spectacle will be presented every night this week. The smaller cities throughout the state have been having their local Cleveland jublees. About on Wednesday next there will be one of the largest political demonstrations here ever held in the state. The alliance is expected to take part in it, and there will be a number of distinguished democratic orators on hand.

Rev. Mr. Proudfit Quits the Presbyterians and Joins the Quakers.

New York, November 14.—At a meeting of the New York presoverry today the clerk read a letter of recreation from Rev. Rebert R. Proudfit, of Highlands, N. J. who gives these reasons for his with-lrawal: "While humbly recerring the Scriptures of the Old and New Tessament as containing the law of God, I declar to subscribe to merely a human deal, ruten of their contents, even though that declaration be at a ie and venerable as the Westmonster standard. I further declar to be called reverend' as being too much like being called rabbi, against which cur Lord expressly enjoined his decipet. Again, I decidedly prefer not to be identified with any particular denomination of the followers of Christ, such names and spirit which they engender seeming to me unscriptual and baneful rather than beneficial. It is sufficient for me to be companion of all of their that fear God.

"Finally, I suspect that the world and visible church are so nawnet surfeited with preaching, at least if the prevailing typ. Like the army of the Potomac early in 1862, the church has been abundantly perhaps excessively, organized and drifted. Bet Bis Whole Show and Lost.

Carrollton, Ga., November 14.—(Special.)—
There were 5,000 disappointed people in Carrollton today. Miles Orton's show was billed to give a performance here today and country people in great numbers came. No show came, but rain came down in torrents and everybody went home drenching wet. The reason for the non-appearance of the show is that Orton bet his whole show, elephant and all, to an enthusiastic Cleveland man in Chattanooga on the election. The showman bet on Harrison and his show is owned by the Cleveland man. It is said the winner rode the elephant in the Cleveland parade is Chattanooga.

Starving Indians Will Revolt.

Guthrie, Oka., November 14.—There is danger of an outbreak of the Arapahoe and Cheme Indians who, with winter coming on, are on the verge of starvation. This is said to be the fault of the government to a great extent. The rations issued to the Indians have been reduced and their money has been withheld. If something is not done to relieve them they will kill stock belonging to the white settlers; then a war will break out that the whites hope will be one of extermination of the red men. Starving Indians Will Revolt.

Cincinnati, November 14.—The difference existing betwen the Cincinnati, New Orleans and Texas Pacific railroad and the the telegraphers in its employ is now in the hands of the Order of Railway Tellegraphers for adjustment, although chances of an early settlement are anything but flattering. The telegraphers' grievance committee, headed by Deputy Grand Chief Tobey, of Vinton, Ia., had a conference with General Manager Carroll, but nothing was accomplished. He refused emphatically to allow the men more pay. Trying to Adjust Matters.

New York, November 14.—A Heraid's Val-paraiso dispatch says President Montt is hard at work trying to reconcile the opposi-tion to the present cabinet so that it may be retained in office. The opposition is mainly to Bartros Luco, prime minister, but other members of the cabinet will not retain office if Senor-Luco goes. The questions at issue are purely political. Telegrams from Rio Grande du Sol show that the revolt there was frustrated by the vigilance of government troops. Mysterious Death of a Russian General Mysterious Death of a Russian General.

Moscow, November 14.—A sensation has been caused here by the sudden death at Tashkead, in Asiatic Russia, of General Boronok. Some time ago Boronok was appointed special commissioner to examine into the administration of the province in which Tashkend is situated. He made an exhaustive examination into the affairs of the province, discovering irregularities involving a number of officials. Boronok was upon the point of returning to Moscow when he was taken suddenly ill and died in a few minutes. It is suspected that some of the officials whose dishonesty was brought to light by General Boronok was responsible for his death. A post-mortem examination will be made to learn if he was poisoned:

FOR CIVIL RIGHTS

The Negroes of Georgia Will Hold a Big Convention.

NOVEMBER 19TH IS THE DATE

The Meeting Will Take Place in Atlanta That Day-The State Legislature Will Be Petitioned.

The negroes of the state of Georgia will make an attempt to have certain so-called discrimination against them stopped by an appeal to the state legislature.

A call for a convention to take place in Atlanta on next Thursday has been issued, but the place of meeting has not been set-tled on as yet. Some of Georgia's most prominent colored citizens have signed the

The circular speaks especially of the law known as the "separate car law" and of the "murdering uncondemned and untried." Smith Easly, Jr., speaking of the call, said: "It is not a convention called for the purpose of making an appeal for social equality, but merely a meeting of dignified colored citizens to consider a remedy for the wrongs imposed upon the negro race. That remedy is a petition to the state legislature asking them to set aside certain laws which impose a hardship upon the negro. As yet we do not know just where we will hold the convention but that will be decided tomorrow.

"I wouldn't be surprised if there were fully five hundred at the convention."

Atlanta, Ga., November 3, 1892.—When the strong oppress and crush the weak by inhuman, unjust and barbarous laws, it becomes strong oppress and crush the weak by inhuman, unjust and barbarous laws, it becomes necessary for the weak to ask that the oppression cease and that all the unjust and offensive laws against them be repealed But when they are murdered untried and uncondemned, they should ask for the protection of the laws of the state and the right of trial by jury.

Therefore, we, believing in a God of wisdom, justice, truth and mercy, and believing
He is with us in this great struggle, do call upon all true lovers of their race, all true lovers of freedom, right and justice, to join us in raising a voice against the many wrongs so unjustly heaped upon our people. We believe class legislation to be a hinderance to the development and progress of these United States, and also to be contrary to the constitution of the same.

We believe that such laws as the "separate car law," which forces a citizen to pay first class fare, and at the same time subjects him, or her, to a third-class ride in a smoker, or an apartment adjoining a smoker, to be not only unjust, but we believe also that such laws are relics of ignorance, superstition and prejudice and should be burled with the ruins of slavery.

We believe further, that such laws serve not only unjust, but we believe also that such laws are relics of ignorance, superstition and prejudice and should be buried with the ruins of slavery.

We believe further, that such laws serve only to widen the breach, increase the prejudice and estrange the races; all of which are incompatible with progress, law and order.

We believe further, that such laws do not represent the sentiments and wishes of the better element of our white friends, but their slience does not sustain our belief.

We believe also, that with the law of free dom, justice and right before them; with patriotism, self-honor and the honor of the grand old state of Georgia before them, that our legislators and senators cannot fall to recognize the justice of our claim.

We believe further, That a conference of the leading colored med of the state should be held in Atlanta during the carnival week, November 17, 1892, to prepare a manly and dignified protest against these unlawful and outragous discriminations and present them to the legislature, now in session.

Therefore, recognizing in you that true patriotism which characterizes every lover of his race, we, in behalf of eight hundred and fifty-eight thousand nine hundred and ninety-six (88,96%) colored citizens, representing fifteen million ($15,000;000) dollars and in behalf of justice to all harmony among the races, equal civil rights to all and special privileges to none, do invite you to be in Atlanta on the above named date for the reasons set forth before in this call.

The railroads have agreed upon one cent rates to and from Atlanta during carnival week.

COUNTY POLITICS.

No Important Developments Yet But Several

The interest in the city election has absorbed for the present the question of county politics.

Everything was quiet around the courthouse yesterday except around the voting precinct for the second ward.

Mr. J. J. Barnes for the office of sheriff, has announced the following ticket.

For sheriff, J. J. Barnes. Deputies, M. M. Blount, E. A. Donahue and W. D. Green.

M. Blount, E. A. Donahue and W. D. Green.

The ticket is made up entirely of the dieputics of the present administration and their splendid record is an excellent argument in favor of their re-election.

Captain J. W. Morrow has not as yet announced bis ticket. It is likely that Mr. J. J. Meador will be associated with him as one of the deputies.

The rumor as to the coalition between Colonel L. P. Thomas, Colonel A. G. Howard and Captain A. M. Perkerson has not as yet materialized, but the chances are that they will club together and agree upon one or the other to head the ticket.

Events are slowly shaping themselves and all of the combinations will no doubt be formed by next Saturday.

DEATH OF MRS. JOSEPH S. COOK.

A Woman of Sweet Christian Character Passes Into the Home of the Good.

Passes into the Home of the Good.

Mrs. Fannie Grier Cook, wife of Joseph S. Cook, died at her home on Ponce de Leon circle yesterday morning at 11 o'clock. She had been ill but a few days and her sickness was thought to be only temporary. She was the daughter of the late Hon. E. C. Grier, of Macon, who for a number of years was secretary of the Georgia Agricultural Association.

In her death the church and all charitable institutions of this city will be the loser. She was a noble woman, possessed of the highest traits of Christian character. Bright, happy and remarkably intelligent, she was the center of a large circle of friends. They will mourn her loss as one possessed with life's noblest ambition, the best Christian impulses and a character of the purest womanhood.

She will be buried this afternoon at 3 o'clock from the First Methodist church. The interment will be at Oakland cemetery.

Every minister of this city is earnestly re-quested to meet at the First Methodist episcopal church Wednesday morning. No rember 16th, at 9:30 o'clock. Business of mportance. T. P. CLEVELAND. Ministers to Meet.

Crowds Begin to Arrive.

Our visitors have already commenced to flock into the city.

The trains yesterday afternoon that rolled into the passenger depot were crowded to overflowing.

It was lively work for the hackmen and the rain was just what they wanted. They had their hands full—and their hacks, too—in rolling the new arrivals over the city.

Just here it is well to state that no matter how much it rains there is no danger of anybody's getting stuck in the mud. Our streets are all paved with belgian block and mud in Atlanta is a thing of the

Our streets are an paved with constitution block and mud in Atlanta is a thing of the past.

Heralds from Rome, Marietta, Griffin, Augusta, Macon and other cities brought with them the glad tidings yesterday afternoon that each of those cities would be here in large majorities, and would also bring their torches and tin horns along with them.

Several of the visiting delegations will bring their own music and there will be no end to the martial notes that will ring out their melody along the streets of Atlanta tonight.

Macon will send up a thousand of her sterling young democrats. They will leave the Central City this afternoon and will arrive in Atlanta just a little after dark.

A splendid delegation from Rome will arrive in the city at the same time, and information has been received to the effect that five hundred young Romans will add their torches to the carnival of fire that will blaze upon Atlanta's hill tops.

Augusta, nearly two thousand strong, will also be in line, and the transparencies wmech will glow over the caps of her jubilating young democrats will bear the names of the twin-victors, "Cleveland and Black."

Then Griffin—sprightly and enterprising ald Griffin—with her two hundred solid

Then Griffin—sprightly and enterprising old Griffin—with her two hundred solid democrats, and Marietta with her "noble six hundred," and Cartersville and Albany and Jonesboro—in fact nearly every town in the state will fall into line and draw out the procession of torches for more than five miles.

in the state will fall into line and draw out the procession of torches for more than five miles.

The little boy in knee breeches will be carried away with excitement and even the older men will lift up their eyelashes and let go their astonishment as the democratic army marches in front of them.

Every store window along the line of march will be brightly illuminated with wax candles, while the burning of colored lights will intensify the surroundings and give to the scene the enchanting beauty of wonderland.

Display of Fireworks.

And then the display of fireworks!

Nothing has ever been seen in Atlanta that will equal the pyrotechnic display that will zpread out its glamor over the city tonight.

Skylockets, the largest ever seen in the city, and Roman candles with thirty-odd balls will go up to invade the fields of astronomy and describe their fiery circles in the zodiac.

Mr. Arnold Broyles, who is in charge of this part of the demonstration, says that he has lost no time in making his preparations for a grand display and that everybody will be surprised at the grandeur and magnificence of the exhibition.

Decorations, in spite of the rain, went bravely on yesterday afternoon, and the city by dark was flying with the colors of the demonstration and the carnival.

Nearly every store on Whitehall street was decorated from top to bottom—especially the dry goods and clothing emporiums.

Many of the merchants were prevented from putting out their colors on account of the threatening aspect of the weather.

The bunting was considerably drenched by the rain in many places and the colors were strangely blended together, but today the sumly will be renewed and the other merchants who have failed to decorate will put out their trimmings this morning.

morning.

Line of March.

The following order of assembling and line of march will be observed:

Companies, clubs, delegations and all persons desiring to take part in the torchlight parade will assemble on Marietta street above the Grady monument with left of procession resting on Forsyth street, at 7 o'clock. All persons who can do so are earnestly requested to provide themselves with torches, as the supply in the hands of the committee is limited. Torches will be furnished such delegations as cannot provide their own by the marshals in command at place of meeting.

The marshals and aids are requested to meet at the Grady monument at 6:30 o'clock this evening. The procession will start at 7:30 o'clock, and the delegation will be formed in platoons of four with a captain commanding each company of eight platoons. Proper order will be observed in line and the captains and marshals are urged to enforce good behavior and to protect the lines from being broken by any persons intercepting the platoons while the procession will march up Forsyth to the junction of Peachtree street, thence across Peachtree to Pryor, down Pryor to Edgewood avenue.

South Carolina Club to March.

The South Carolina Club, with one hundred torches, will be in line and will make an excellent show in the procession.

They will represent the Palmetto State in true democratic fashion and several transparencies emblazoned with their mottoes will light up the parade and display the enthusiasm, which has characterized the membership throughout the campaign.

They Will Arrive Today.

The visiting delegations from the towns and cities throughout the state will begin to arrive in the city this morning.

Every train that pulls into the depot today will empty its contributions upon the streets and swell the tide of democratic enthusiasm that will make the old city aglow with residicity.

rejoicing.

It is estimated that fully ten thousand people in addition to the crowds that arrived in the city yesterday afternoon and last night will pour into Atlanta today.

Speaking at the Capitol.

After the torchlight procession is over the crowd will repair to the capitol, where the speaking will occur.

The iron-clad democrats who have managed the recent campaign, and whose clarion voices have rung out with the glad notes of democracy, will mingle tonight in the parliament of enthusiastic rejoicing.

If necessary, in order to accommodate the crowd, the speaking will occur from different platforms.

The following well-known Georgians have consented to address the democracy and everybody should go out and hear them.

Frank Deshon's Opera Company.

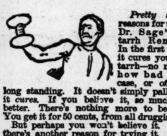

Frank Deshon's Opera Company.

Popular Frank Deshon and his great comic operatic company, will delight Atlanta andiences for three performances, two nights and Thursday matinee, commencing Wedesday November 18th, presenting "The Three Black Cloaks." This company, judging from reports received, is stronger than ever. The News and Courier has the following to say of the company:

"The largest house of the season greeted the favorite Deshon Opera Company last night and all went away delighted with the rendition of Bucolossi's charming Spanish opera, "Three Black Cloaks." That the company are prime favorites was amply attested by the great amount of applause they received. Mr. Frank Deshon was immensely funny, both in make-up and acting, and his topical song, "Woman, Lovely Woman," received encore after encore. Mr. Deshon is an artist of whom Charleston may well be proud.

Lizzie Evans. "The little electric battery," Lizzie Evans, will present the new comedy drama, "The Little Blacksmith." at the opera house on Friday and Saturday, with Saturday matinee. "The Little Blacksmith" is as strong, dramatically, as a play written to suit this little lady's peculiar talents can be, and in it she is given every opportunity for the display of her genius.

It is a story of life in a New England vil-lage, with Miss Evans as the Tom-boy, and many opportunities are given for some excel-lent character work by members of the com-

Pretty strong reasons for trying Dr. Sage's Catarth Remedy. In the first place, it cures. If you believe it, so much the better. There's nothing more to be said. You get it for 50 cents, from all druggists.

But perhaps you won't believe it. Then there's another reason for trying it. Show that you can't be cured, and you'll get $500. It's a plain business offer. The makers of Dr. Sage's Remedy will pay you that amount if they can't cure you. They know that they can—you think that they can't. If they're wrong, you get the cash. If you're wrong, you're rid of catarth. Here are some of the symptoms of Catarrh: Headache, obstruction of nose, discharges falling into throat, sometimes profuse, watery, and acrid, at others, thick, tenacious, mucous, purulent, bloody, putrid, and offensive breath; smell and taste impaired, and general debility. Only a few of these likely to be present at once.

would be saved by taking in the first stage of any illness a generous dose of Brandreth's Pills; this would be especially true in cases of pneumonia or bad colds. Take from six to ten pills and by their thorough action the excess of blood is taken from the lungs to the intestines and congestion must stop. When you feel a cold coming or have a chill followed by a sudden rise of temperature take these pills first and then send for your physician; he won't have much to do, but then he gives you confidence and will have the credit of the cure and all will be satisfied.

Remember, Brandreth's Pills are purely vegetable and cannot do harm; over 100,000,000 boxes have been used during the past 60 years and have never done anything but good.

A SPECIAL INVITATION FROM

Johnson & Co.

To their thousands of customers all over the southern states as well as in Georgia, to visit their new store now since it has been finished the last time which is the fifth rebuilding and enlarging during the last twenty-seven years.

Are you coming to the carnival? If so it will cost you nothing to see the largest store and the most superbly magnificent stock of goods south of the eastern markets. We have since your last visit made another extension 48x60, three stories high, which was finished during the last summer and now we flatter ourselves that again we have elbow-room to meet the demands of the trade.

We will not allow our business to push us. We prefer to push the business and now after a pleasant experience of over a quarter of a century and having a growing and increasing trade all over Georgis and in nearly every southern state, we are persuaded that our customers know and understand the fundamental principles underlying the steady growth of so prosperous an undertaking.

We started out with a motto, the truth of undertaking.

We started out with a motto, the truth of which has never been denied and now known as a staid but not worn maxim.

The Best is the Cheapest

Knowing this to be true and believing that our customers would find it so and that they would increase instead of diminish as they and their friends compared articles and prices, we determined not only to make it a potent influence, but to add another which is

The Best Value For the Price

Hence our growth has not surprised us as it has many of our friends. Pure, honest goods vs. shoddies can have but one result—the result of educating the buyer. We try to educate the trade up. Many, yea too many, educate down on a level with ship-worn. moth-caten, old-style goods, bought at auction for a song and sold for a price when really they are high at any consideration.

THIS IS RECKLESS EXTRAVA-GANCE, NOT ECONOMY.

We sell many low-priced goods, keep them always on hand, but not shoddles nor old styles, but the newest and freshest goods of this kind direct from the mills and we have them marked in reach of all buyers as low as the lowest.

in all other goods. A poor carpet is not worth buying and few buy one a second time but add a few cents more per yard and get a val-us a good, cheap medium but honest weave. This rule applies to all classes of merchan-dise, just as much in shoes and more proba-bly. Some shoes will melt in water, will the customer buy another pair from the same merchant?

Fewer people understand the difference in furniture than any other class of goods. They must leave it to the honor of the house they buy from. A lady can stand and see her dress cut off and see the bundle carried to her carriage or take it in her hand, but not so with furniture. Hence they purchase partly blind and must rely they purchase party blad and must rely wholly on the honor of the firm they trade with, and, again, all who will stop to think will at once come to the conclusion that they always pay for what they get. If they, buy at a low price they get low grades and

In furnishing we are prepared for every kind of a home, be it palace or cottage. We furnish carpets, rugs, shades, draperies, mats and hall, parlor, sitting room, dining room, library and bedroom furniture as low and in as good style as any house on the globe, and spring mattresses, sheets, pillows, bolsterss and cases, blankets, quilta, comforts, etc.; in fact we make a full and complete furnishing to table linens, towels and napkins. ATLANTA, GA., November 15, 1892.

TURN OUT TONIGHT.

The democrats of Atlanta should prepare themselves for the greatest demonstration ever seen in this state tonight. It will be one of the most interesting events of the kind that Atlanta has known, and will be a celebration in every way worthy of the glorious victory of the democracy. Ten thousand torches will be in line, and representative democrats from all parts of the south will be here. Every democrat in Atlanta who can do so should be in line tonigh .

The First Day of the Carnival. Today, rain or shine, the Indian summer carnival onens!

It is an event in the history of Atlanta! Delegations will be here from all parts of the state and it will be one of the biggest days in our history.

The processions, the floats and the exercises at Piedmont park will surpass anything ever seen here before.

We hope the weather will be favorable, but if it is not, nothing can dampen the enthusiasm of the democrats who propose to make their torchlight procession illuminate the city.

The glare of our torches and fireworks tonight will remind our neighbors twenty miles away of the burning of the city nearly thirty years ago.

This time the conflagration will be a sign and a promise of peace and prosper-

Never mind the weather! The chances are that it will be all that could be desired, but if it proves unpropitious, the stalwart democrats who rolled up such a magnificent majority for Cleveland in Georgia, will be equal to the emergency. Their torches, bonfires and fireworks will turn night into day!

The democrats of Georgia are here today. The city is theirs. They will take possession, paint the town red, and tonight their shouts will be heard in four

But we still have the firmest confidence in the weather. We believe that tonight the skies will be clear, the atmosphere crisp, and all the accessories in order. Sometimes we talk about bright days, but now we must reverse the usual phrase and speak of bright nights, and the brightest of all will be tonight!

Senator Hill,

Mr. T. B. Connery, the veteran retired journalist, writes to The New York World proposing the name of Senator David B. Hill for a place in Mr. Cleveland's cabinet, and paying a high tribute to the charac ter and extent of the senator's campaign work in New York and other states.

Mr. Connery says that it is a graceful custom to offer the chief place in the cabinet to the candidate honored in the national convention with the largest vote next to that of the nominee. This has been the custom, and we have no doubt that Mr. Cleveland would make it more graceful still by inviting the distinguished New York leader to join him if he felt that senator Hill had any aspirations that way. But we believe with The New York World that Mr. Hill has a more important place in the senate. The democrats will need a vigorous and an aggressive leader in that body when the new congress meets, and no one can fill Senator Hill's place in that respect. The party needs his services where he is, rather than in carrying out the humdrum duties of a cabinet

The Party of Progress.

Under the party of Jefferson-the democracy-this country has made its longest strides in the direction of prosperity. It was under the rule of this party that we acquired most of our territory, and extended our institutions over three-fifths of the continent. The history of the republic shows that the democratic party is the party of progress. It has carried our flag all over the continent, and has made it respected by all the nations of the earth.

We have good reason to be proud of the record. But now, when the grand old party of the republic, for the first time in a generation takes control of the government, we are justified in making predictions that savor of the most optimistic character. When we reform our tariff to such an extent that it will no longer be a robber tax, we may expect to see the languishing agricultural interests of the country take an upward leap. Relieved from the menace of foreign cheap labor, our industries will have nothing to hamper their forward march, and our people will get the full benefit of lower prices.

ent, was a party of conservatism, and it nable to expect that its old record will be sustained. It is true that we branched out and acquired Louisiana, Florida, Texas, California and other territories, but subsequent results have amply confirmed the wisdom of these annexa-

Even this brief review of the past makes it plain that the democratic party is the party of progress, and, we of conservatism, as well. The result of the recent election will inspire English and other capitalists with renewed confidence in this section, and the results will be seen in the shape of direct trade and more numerous investments. If the leaders of the democracy will use their victory wisely and well the capital and enterprise of the world will seek this garden spot for investment and development. Henceforth, the south will be regarded as the world's El Dorado.

Rain or shine, the democratic celebration tonight goes. There will be no postponement on account of the weather. The mists in the valley and fog on the hilltops will not be heavy enough to hide the red fire and blue lights that will give significance to democratic enthusiasm.

On an occasion like this rain doesn't count. No weather is gloomy when the democratic forces are giving vent to their joy over the greatest victory this generation has seen.

We say this much in order to assure our readers in other parts of the state that the programme as arranged will be carried out to the letter. We want our friends to be here to rejoice with us and to help us tote the great democratic ban-

Everybody is invited to make himself, his wife, his children and all his kinfolks at home in this town tonight.

· Credit to Whom Credit Is Due. There are two men in this country to whom the democrats owe a vote of To them is due much of the credit of the great democratic landslide of last Tuesday.

Both are nice men in their way. Presum ably they were artists in their particular and chosen professions. William Mc-Kinley. Jr., bears a striking resemblance to one Napoleon of late fame and glories in the title of the "Napoleon of statesman ship." Henry Cabot Lodge is an artist in the literary world, and is noted among other things for his aesthetic horsemanship. Mr. Lodge is a bright young man. He is clever and affable and he aspired to become a great statesman.

In the fifty-first congress, over which Colonel Tom Reed presided and led in a gallop over all precedents of the past, and which slashed and cut and decapitated existing laws as a band of Apache Indians upon a defenseless emigrant train, Mr. William McKinley, Jr., and aesthetic Mr. Henry Cabot Lodge were next to the burly chief himself the most conspicuous figures. There were no checks. The road was clear. The rope was endless. They entangled themselves and their party in it until there was no extrication.

formed the most valuable service to the democracy. There was no check upon him in preparing the tariff bill which bears his name. The already protected manufacturers swarmed around him in great hordes asking for more protectionmore profit. McKinley either ignored the people, or thought "damn the people." The bill was arranged solely to increase the revenue of the manufacturers. Every man, woman and child in America was forced to go down into his or her pocket and contribute to this fund. No man's pocket outside of that of the protected manufacturer was saved from the robber hand of the McKinley bill. They submitted because they could not do otherwise until it came their turn to vote for the repeal of the continuation of this measure Then they spoke, silently but effectively. They spoke to Major McKinley.

And in that same congress arose Mr. Henry Cabot Lodge who, taking the cue

MR. HENRY CABOT LODGE. declared for a bayonet behind every ballot in the south, imagined he could become famous by combining his rhetoric with the ideas and plans of one Davenport, of New York, and prepare a bill to centralize this government and perpetuate republican rule. He prepared the notorious force bill and drove it through the house in a gallop under the gag rules of his Maine chieftain. It failed of passage by the shrewd statesmanship and manipula tion of democratic senators. But Mr. Lodge and his party continued to push it. In the meantime its provisions and its effects were studied by the people. Intended to be an iron heel upon neck of the south, the north and west saw that conditions might so change as to full benefit of lower prices.

The democratic party in the past, during its long control of the federal governing its long control of the federal governing forget the basis upon which our govern-ment was founded. It was intended as a government of the people, by the people and for the people. They spoke out for this. They spoke out against an oligarchy, against a centralized governme against the force bill.

The campaign was one of issues-the McKinley bill-the Lodge force bill. Upon these it was fought. McKinley and Lodge destroyed the republican party. To them the credit of a glorious demo cratic victory is, in a great measure, due.

Why Not an Extra Session? The general tendency and drift of democratic sentiment, so far as we have observed, is in favor of an extra session of congress for the purpose of clearing the ground and arranging the preliminaries for putting in operation the legislation which the people desire and demand. The Constitution, which was one of the first democratic newspapers to advocate an extra session on the score of its importance and necessity, has already briefly given a few of the reasons why the democrats should make prompt arrangements to discharge the duties with which the people have entrusted them. These reasons and others that naturally suggest themselves seem to us to be conclusive.

We observe, however, that some of the democratic brethren are disposed to shrink from the responsibility which events have placed on the party; and a protest comes also from some of those who, independent when our campaign is going on, betray an uncontrollable desire to take the victorious party in charge, no matter what the complexion of its polities may be. There is The New York Herald, for instance, which grows warm in protesting against an extra session. "For heaven's sake," cries The Herald, "give us a rest! Let things take their own course. Let well enough alone." And it goes on to say that "the people don't want the Mo-Kinley law repealed;" that "to repeal the law or to chase congress on to tamper hastily with its provisions" would throw the country into a panic such as it has not experienced since 1857. The Herald also points threateningly to the fact that Mr. Murat Halstead is in favor of an extra session and says the republicans would not like anything better than to have the democrats commit such a blun-

With due respect for The Herald, we must say that the reasons it gives for opposing an extra session are wholly beside the question. If the people had been anxious to have a rest under the McKinley law, the probability is that they would have endorsed the republican candidates It would have been an easy thing to do, and the people have unfortunately been in the habit of doing it. On this occasion, however, they have agreed in the most remarkable way to repudiate the republicans and their policy and to turn the government over to the democrats. We suppose there is no doubt about the election. We suppose there is no doubt that the democratic candidates have received an overwhelming majority of the electoral and popular vote. If not, there is no more doubt as to the nature of the work the people desire the democrats to do. Pursuing this line of reasoning, which has both logic and common sense behind it, we may say that if the people have chosen the democrats for any purpose, their choice is in the nature of a commis sion to carry out that purpose, and the sooner that purpose is carried out the better it will be for the country and for the democratic party.

If the people had wanted a rest in the sense in which The New York Herald the tariff legislation of the republicans. This would have secured to the country a long rest under the beneficent operations of the McKinley tariff. The cry of the people from one end of the country to the other, in the newspapers, on the hustings and everywhere, was "Give us relief!" No other reasonable and natural interpretation can be put upon their overwhelming repudiation of the republican party and its policy. As for Mr. Halstead's pretended desire for an extra session, it is bluster pure and simple, and it is bluster of the kind Mr. Halstead filled his two newspapers with during the election. Some of it bubbled over into the columns of The Herald during the campaign, and one should think our contemporary would be familiar with its import by this time.

What right has The Herald or anybody else to suppose that an extra session means that the democrats propose to rush pellmell into tariff legislation without due deliberation? Would an extra session be different from a regular session in any way except as to the time of holding it? Would an extra session involve hasty and riotous legislation to any greater degree than the regular session? Why should there be a delay of more than a year before the democratic party even begins the work of reform? Is it because Mr. Halstead and other blustering republicans pretend to be anxious to have the democrats begin the work of carrying out the desire of the people? We do not take hold, as it were, of the reason why an extra session would be impolitic or dangerors. If there be any it is too subtle and elusive for our grasp. We do not understand, in the first place, why real tariff reform should contain any of the elements of fright or panic, and, if it did, we do not understand how these elements are to be exorcised by postponement and delay. These things are dark to our understanding, but if they can be made clear by discussion, we shall be glad to acknowledge their force and effectiveness.

But, nothing can be clearer than the result of the election. The republican party was not rebuked-it was repudiated-annihilated on the issues that were before the country. The democrats made no concealment of their purposes. Prominent among these purposes was the re-form of the tariff in the interest of the taxpayers. Mr. Halstead and other republican blusterers declared that the demcrats were for free trade, but Mr. Cleveland and the leaders sald, "No; we are not for free trade-we are for freer trade. We are for tariff reform that will lift the burden of taxation which the rep imposed on the people—not for the fit of the wage-earners, but for the enefit of the millionaire manufacturers There was not in all this land an intelligent voter who misunderstood the issues that divided the parties. If the people had desired to rest quiety under the operations of the McKinley law for another four years they would have endorsed the republican policy; but, with the issues plainly before them, they repudiated the McKinley-Davenport party and commissioned the democrats to repeal the McKinley law and reform the tariff.

This being the case, what is the objection to an extra session? We have seen what The Herald says by way of objection, and we have no doubt it is as reasonable as any that can be made. But what is the common sense of the situa tion? The people, by the most overwhelming verdict, have declared the democratic policy to be important. If the party is to live and move it must carry out its pledges and execute the high ion the people have entrusted it with. It must reform the tariff, and the work should begin as promptly as possible. It can afford to be vigorous and aggressive. It can afford to move forward with confidence. It can afford to astonish the republican blusterers.

An extra session would not only have the merit of showing a desire to carry out the wishes of the people promptly and vigorously, but it would have the merit of economy. It would save time. We do not undertake to say that the whole business of tariff reform should be carried out at the extra session, or within a year, but we do undertake to say most emphatically that it should be begun as promptly as possible. Let the work go forward with due discretion, with all the caution possible or necessary, and with all the care demanded by the importance of the interests involved; but by all means and above all things, let it be begun promptly. Let it go forward slowly if necessary, but let it be begun quickly. The longer the beginning is postponed, the longer tariff reform will be delayed.

The people have already spoken, and the democratic party, which is the beneficiary of the verdict, should carry it out promptly and thoroughly.

Colonel Cockerill slipped a cog.

It will be some months before the republican ambulance wagon succeeds in removing all the dead and wounded.

The fusion in the south seems to have Editor Halstead was looking under the car when the overhead wire broke. Hence the blaze under his/coattails.

The republicans are now engaged in cussin' out the force bill. They ought to have been engaged in that business in 1890.

It is to be hoped that republican bluster will not have the effect of frightening the democratic leaders into postponing for more than a year the reforms which the people

CHARMING ATLANTA

Selected by the Persons Who Started the Rumor as the Bride of Senator David Bennett Hill.

That's what there was in Atlanta yester day when the news reached here that several New York newspapers had announced that Senator David Bennett Hill, of New York, would soon forsake his bachelor life; and, further and particularly, that he would take as his bride

An Atlanta lady.

The lady whose name was coupled with that of the distinguished senator was Mrs.

the most beautiful women in the world.

The story was that the senator had met her in Atlanta during previous visits, had pronounced her the most beautiful woman he had ever seen, and had since that time been devoted to her and had since that time been devoted to her in a quiet and serious way.

The gossips, and indeed some friends whom I had reason to believe ought to know, had it that the handsome statesman had visited her in her quiet country nook and that a regular correspondence had been kept up for many months between them. The story was depied however, by these who cycle to know denied, however, by those who ought to know best and had ceased to be a social topic until the publications in New York brought a flood of telegrams of inquiry concerning it.

There was one person-in Atlanta qualified beyond all others to affirm or deny the truth of the rumor and early yesterday morning I rang the bell at her pretty home on West Peachtree. I found her sitting with her lit-tle sick boy in a cosy little room full of warmth and rich, eastern color. She wore a soft, clinging gown of ruby red stuff and about her graceful throat was caught a scarf softly tinted as the daintiest of soap bubbles.
As she arose to give a pleasant greeting, she

As she arose to give a pleasant greeting, she looked worthy to wear the diadem of an empress. She is a tall woman—is Mrs. Iverson—with a figure most beautifully proportioned, and her rich, glowing complexion is as soft and sweet as a peach. Her eyes are deep blue with dark lashes and perfectly arched brows; her hair is dark-brown with lustrous lights, and her features are perfectly Greclan. Her fine, white hands were employed with some pretty feminine embroidery and neither did they or her features betray the slighest emotion as I handed her a batch of New York telegrams—all bearing upon a subject in which she might have the deepest interest.

interest.
"Yes," she said quietly, as she perused them. "I heard all this early this morning." "And is it true?" was asked.

"True!" and here her pretty brows puckered themselves into a perturbed form. "Why there isn't one particle of foundation for the story. I have only the slightest adquain tance with Senator Hill-only met him one at a reception in the most formal way."
"And he did not visit you this summer?" pursued the impertent inquirer.

"Ah! no indeed. I assure you there has been no sort of acquaintance between us. I don't know how the report arose or from whence it came.'

She then went on to explain in that modest, dignified way of hers how unpleasant and embarrassing she found her position in the matter, and although she did not say it, she might have declared very truly that it was unpleasant enough to be reported engaged to the most devoted of sultors, much less to a gentleman one hardly knew. Of course, like the sweet refined lady that she is, she deplores the gossip on her reported fiances's account as well as her own, and she wants is absolutely corrected by her wish and au thority. Those nearest to her avow that the thoughts of marriage with any one are far from her mind just now. She has for several weeks been a tireless watcher by the bedside of the little boy whose beauty reflected hers as a moonstone might reflect an opal as he sai by her side yesterday morning. The little fellow is better now and she will soon take him away for a change of scene and air.

But if all this story were true we southern people would certainly make our congratu-lations heartiest of all. Hearty because we know this fair lady so well; and then—a southern woman the possible mistress of the white house, and such a southern woman, too. It has been a long time since the great man-sion has been so honored and so graced. Mrs. Iverson belongs to an old and aristocratic Georgia family. As Miss Fanny man, in the days of her girlhood, she was one of the most noted belles and beauties in the south. She was married quite young to the late James Iverson, the son of Senator Alfred Iverson, of Georgia, a gentleman of wealth and distinction, and in the full beauty of young womanhood she was left a widow with three little boys. For the past three years she has been a reigning belle and a years she has been a reigning belle and a beauty whose praises have been sung al

Dear Sir: I see in today's Constitution that I am considered among the probable applicants for the attorneyship of the Northern district. I count it a compliment to be thought worthy of so responsible a trust, but it is a mistake. In the first place, that office is not in my district and I would not, if I could, take It from the deserving democrats of that section, who tolled so nobly for the triumph of the party. In the next place, I am not an applicant for any office in the gift of Mr. Cleveland. The truth is, I have not sufficiently recovered from the happiness I feel in the great victory of the party and tariff reform, to think of personal promotion. It is without a parallel in the history of the republic, unless it be found in the uprising of 1840, when the grandfather of our retiring president was lifted to the leadership of the nation. But that it is the triumph of the great principles of free government, which for years have been eclipsed by official corruption and the rankest classism. It is an assertion by the people of their title to the government of the country, so eloquent and pronounced it must and will revive the hopes of every despairing patriot.

It is a triumph of taxation for revenue only

It is a triumph of taxation for revenue only over taxation for protection; of a one country over sectionalism; of clean methods over over sectionalism; of clean methods over spollism; of economy over extravagance; of principle over hereay; of simple right over sheer wrong. The vast benefits which in my humble opinion are to accrue to all the people has banished self-aligether out of sight. There is one thing I expect at the hands of Mr. Cleveland; for it I am an applicant. In common with all the people, I expect to receive it. It is the blessing of a clean and capable administration for the benefit of the whole country, not a section; of all the people, not a class—accented by the imposition of a tariff which will relieve the plain people of the present robbery, and which will be as low as wise economy will permit.

To this let me add the hope that his wisdom will make it possible to hasten the hour of relief. I am yours truly.

THE GOBER CASE.

That Created a Big Sensation Through- | An Investigation Begun by the Joint Committee.

AN OBJECTION TO MR. M'AFEE

Mr. Glenn Wanted Him to Retire-The Matter Was Left to the Senator and He Be mained.

The joint committee of the general assembly took up the investigation of Judge George Gober, of the Blue Ridge circuit, last night.

The members of the committee are: Senators Wooten, Chairman; McAfee and Hatcher; Representatives Howard, chairman; Rankin, Hill, Battle and Bacon.

The committee met at the capitol at 8 o'clock, and after a preliminary discuss among the members as to the mode of procedure, the parties to the investigation were invited in. Judge Gober was present with Captain W. D. Ellis, Robert Br and Solicitor General Brown, of the Blue Ridge circuit, as counsel. Many of the judge's friends from his section of the state were present, among them being Carter Tate, congressman-elect from the ninth district. Messrs. W. C. Glenn and C. D. Maddox, the lawyers who preferred the charges, were also present with a number of friends and witnesses.

Chairman Wooten stated the purpose of the committee's appointment and began to read the papers in the case, reciting the charge of abstracting court records and the subsequent memorial to the general assembly by Messrs. Glenn & Maddox ask-assembly by Messrs. Great Congression of the proceedings opened when Scarcely had the proceedings opened when Mr. Glenn objected to Senator Joseph M. McAfee serving on the committee.

His grounds were that Mr. McAfee was not a fit and proper man to the committee, because he published the published on the committee, because he published the published of the committee, because he published the published of the pu serve on the committee, because he published a eulogy of Judge Gober and expressed confidence in him and recommended him to the general assembly for re-election as addge after a memorial charging him with malfeasance in office had been presented malfeasance in office had been presented to the legislature. Another objection was that Senator McAfee is the father-in-law of George F. Brown, counsel in this investigation, and two cases out of which these charges arose. A third objection was because Mr. McAfee is suiter in a libel case pending in Judge Gober's circuit and that the decision in this libel rests with Judge Gober.

These objections created a little surprise. Mr. Glenn suggested that either Mr. MoAfee should retire from the committee voluntarily, or the point should be referred back to the general assembly for direction. For himself, he thought it was clear that the case should not proceed with Senator McAfee a member.

McAfee a member.

Major Bacon inquired if Mr. Glenn thought the committee could sit in judgment on the competency of a member to Mr. Glenn replied that he does not pride himself on his knowledge of the intricacies and niceties of parliamentary law, but he has certain broad ideas of justice and fair-ness and he was of the opinion that it would be eminently improper for Mr. McAfee to heess and he was of the opinion that it would be eminently improper for Mr. McAfee to serve.

Quite a discussion ensued. Captain Ellis saw no impropriety in it. He thought that if the legislature had a serious intention to make a trial of this case it would have taken some other method. This is merely an inquiry, said he. The presumption is that every member of the committee is impartial. The point might be made that the whole legislature was disqualified to investigate the charges, as all the members had voted to re-elect Judge Gober. To his mind it is a good thing that Mr. McAfee is a member of the committee, as he comes from Judge Gober's vicinage and certainly knows his character. He thought it would be a sad commentary on mankind in general if it is to be presumed that Senator McAfee's judgment is warped because he is related to one of the counsel, or is interested in a suit in Judge Gober's circuit.

Mr. Glenn replied that it might be said that the members of the assembly were not aware of the full portent of the charges and were not familiar with the character of the candidate.

The debate was conducted in quiet tones.

of the candidate.

The debate was conducted in quiet tones but it was keen and intereste Berner stated that er stated that it question of propriety we member himself whether he sho

Berner stated that it was a question of propriety with the member himself whether he should vote. The investigation is not a trial, said he, and all that comes out must be reported to the general assembly.

Mr. Glenn disclaimed holding the position that the committee should ask Mr. McAffee to retire. That was a question to be left with the senator or the senate. His judgment was that the case should be postponed until the senate could take action on it.

The committee finally asked the interested parties and spectators to retire. The members consulted for fifteen minutes, and when the doors were opened chairman Wooten read the following:

The joint committee decides that it has no jurisdiction to pass on the question of the competency of a member appointed on the part of the senate, and, further, that

This joint committee, being composed in part of members of the house, it has no right to make any suggestion to the senate as to the competency of any member of the committee appointed by the senate.

Then the investigation was resumed. Mr. Glenn read the memorial and followed it up with specific charges. They were in substance that Judge Gober refused to consider a motion for a new trial or grant a supersedeas in behalf of certain defendants in a certain case: that he falsely and willfully, with a design to prevent the true character to appear, removed a part of a record; that he maliciuosly and to Injure Glenn and Maddox, issued a rule against them to produce a certain motion, knowing that they could not do so, no such paper being in their custody.

Judge Gober made answer to a subpoens calling on him to produce certain papers stating that they were not in his possersion, custody, or power of control.

Mr. Willingham, the official stenographer, answered a similar rule in a similar way, with the exception of five letters from Glenn & Maddox testified that he had been associated with Mr. Glenn, his former law partner, in the defense of four men charged with arson and tried in the superior court of Pickens county.

new trial, filed with the court of recounty.

Mr. Simmons, clerk of that court, produced a package of papers which he said were all that he has in connection with this arson case. He did not know what hecame of the four missing pages. He did not think the motion in arrest of indgment was ever in his possession. He did not know that Judge Gober has had the motion for a new trial. He did not put any type-written matter in the record himself.

At 11.15 o'clock the committee adjournt to 9:30 o'clock this morning.

They had benefit of the shelter offered by the broad roof of the building. Down in the passage way to the basement courtrooms the rain could not come and there many of the workers passed the day. But as the voters came in they were given the benefit of all the knowledge that had been acquired. Both candid: tes had plenty of friends on hand to work. The second was and is Mr. Goodwin's ward, and for that reason Mr. Woodward and his friends made a very strong effort at the courthouse. They wanted to take Mr. Goodwin's own ward from him and put forward every effort in their power to do so. But Mr. Goodwin's friends had set out to take that ward in out of the wet, even if they didn't get anything else. And they did take it in, and took it in in great shape. Mr. Goodwin called at the voting place just as Mr. Woodward was going away, and as he Re Mayor of Atlanta for the Next ARGE VOTE POLLED IN EACH WARD

"You are all right here, John," said one of his friends. "We are doing all we can for you."

"But we are doing more for Woodward," said one of toat gentleman's friends, "and we are going to carry this ward, too. See if we don't."

Mr. Goodwin with that usual pleasantry reached out for the hand of Mr. Woodward's warm, zealous friend, and grasping it, smiled happily as he said: "My dear sir, I certainly admire your devotion to your friend, and with men like you I could whip the whole political world."

Fifteen minutes after that that same man was working as hard for John B. Good win as he had been working all morning for Mr. Woodward.

The third ward was Mr. Woodward's home, and at it st point he and his friends felt at home from the beginning to the end. There they were certain of victor, and there they miled the happiest. No one they thought dared dispute that cerritory with them and when a Goodwin man had the nerve to show his head he was given a clear case of razzle dazzle. But it was all done in the most pleasant manner. No one was rough, but on the contrary they simply gave the Goodwin gang the broad laugh. When Mr. Goodwin, in his rounds, came to the ward he was given the most respectful attention and was oesieged by a great throng of people who wanted to know his opinion of the result. It was one of Mr. Goodwin's happy in incures as he stood surrounded by the throng predicting his own election.

MR. STOCKDELL, of the Second.

"Mr. Woodwrid," he said, "will carry this ward by a small rus; rity, but I libeat him badly in the city. That you see, however, is no fault of Mr. Woodward's, but it is the decree of the v-cp'2 of Atlanta."

"The fourth ward, for the first time since."

The fourth ward, for the first time since its construction as it now is, had a chance to give an "xx-assion of opinion to white voters only. The colored vo.xx, very much his dissurfaction was bernyl and to his dissuisfaction, was harred, and none of their dated come up and ask to exercise his right. Many of their stood around and looke, on, and to them un election without their voice seemed a novelty.

MR. BEATTIE, of the Third.

Goodwin and Mr. Woolward both

Mr. Goodwin and Mr. Woodward both came to the ward about the same time, and between the two the growd divided its attention. The two gentlemen passed a few words with each other and parted smiling pleasantly. Then the voting went on just the same as if they had not smiled as they passed by.

The rain came down harder in the lifth than at any other point in the city, and the voters came out in the city, and the voters came out in the same way. It takes more than vacar to stop a fifth ward man, and when he has a chance to vote he generally does so. Before the polls opened it was generally believed that Mr. Goodwin would carry the ward by a good round majority, but before m on the faith changed and every one was of the opinion that Mr. Woodward would carry the ward. This was a great big boundaled thrown into the Goodwin camp, and his men bent to work. Since Mr. Goodwin came into politics he has never lest the fifth ward, and he and his friends could not think of giving it up. They came down with the harlest work and when the polls closed the work showed that it had had its fruit. Late in the afternoon when the workingmen came out the scramble was a great one. Everybody put in his hardest licks and the Goodwin men came out on too. His rajority, however, was only twenty-seven.

No one joubted how the sixth ward would go. It has always been conceld to Mr. Goodwin, and when the polls opened everybody was gressing only on the majority Mr. Goodwin would get.

And in the ward he got a snug majority. It was only 320.

The race for aldermen was almost as exciting on the north side as the race for mayor. Most of those who went to the polls had their tickets in their pockets ready, and it was a mighty hard thing to ness who would win in any of the wards. But here is the table telling who won all

Mr. Goodwin Talks of the Result. Mr. Goodwin was found in his office at a late hour last night, receiving the congratulations of his friends. To The Constitution reporter he said:

"Of course I feel gratified at the result, and appreciate more than I can express the renewed confidence of the people and the devotion of my friends and fellow citizens, and I desire to thank each and every one of them cordially for the kindness and support extended me in the race.
"With the result before me, I feel anev

My sole purpose shall be to do the greatest good and render the best service of whit. Lern canable. I leave the race as I entered it, with only good will to all an I'll feeling to none. Some criticisms have been made of myself by a few who were not familiar with the matters discussed by them, but in a somewhat heated compaign like the one just closed, even these are not to be rebuked too strongly. Mr. Woodward made a strong race and received an active or port which must be alike gratifying to him and his friends."

One of the leading Goodwin workers at the fourth ward polls was Mr. Bob Collins. Some time during the day Mr. Collins lost a handsome scarfpin, which he would like to see once more.

"THE OLD HOMESTEAD."

"THE OLD HOMESTEAD."

That ever attractive rural story colored with a dash or two of city life, "The Old Homestead," was presented at DeGive's last night by a fine company. The play has been acted continually for five seasons, and in that time has been witnessed by more people than any other tage production during the same period.

Denman Thompson is naturally associated with the piece, for he made it and was identified with it at the New York Academy of Music from the first. The peculiar charm of the play is lasting and is certainly illustrated by the fact that many have visited it over and over and here in Georgia there is a gentleman who confesses to having witnessed it nearly one hundred times. He has gone night after night in New York, and his is not an exceptional instance.

Archie Boyd, who heads this company, has been seen here before as Joshua Whitcomb and his performance is the counterpart of Denman Thompson's. He is an old New Englander from "away down east" in dialect. In heart he is on open, kind, affectionate father, who yearns for his absent son. Mr. Boyd makes the character stand out strongly, and he presents it in finished style. Mr. Sandford's Happy Jack is capital and all the members of the company are good in their parts.

memoers of the company are good in their parts.

The double quartet's songs were excellent and the "Palms" were rendered delightfully. There will be a matinee today. Tonight the performance will begin at 0 o'clock. On account of the parade, the performance of "The Old Homestead" will be delayed until 9 o'clock, so it will not interfere.

A Free Trip which is Even Better Than Going to Savanash.

It is not too late for Georgia to take advantage of the greatest opportunity to advertise herself she has ever had.

The whole country is looking to Georgia to be represented at the world's fair. Even the railroads outside of the state are willing to lend a hand to get Georgia interested.

Last night Governor Northen received a telegram from Colonel B. W. Wrenn, general passenger agent of the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia, offering a special train to a committee from the general assembly to visit Chicago and see the great exposition.

This will be a delightful trip. The build-train to a committee from the general assembly to visit Chicago and see the great exposition.

This will be a delightful trip. The buildings at the exposition have progressed so far toward completion that a good idea can now be obtained of the magnitude of the exposition which is going to be the greatest the world has ever seen.

And being a free trip there ought not to be any trouble to get a committee to serve. Here is Colonel Wrenn's message:

Knoxville, Tenn., November 14.—To His knoellency, Governor Northen, Atlanta:

Recognizing the very great importance of our state being represented at the world's fair, and believing that if the legislature could witness the immense and in describable buildings representing the nation as well as the principal states of the union except Georgia, that they would, realizing the necessity, make the necessary appropriation, I would respectfully suggest that you recommend to the legislature that they appoint a committee consisting of fifteen to twenty-five to visit Chicago. I am authorized by the railroads between Atlanta and Chicago, via Cincinnati, to tender the courtesies of their lines to such committee. I would be pleased to accompany them. If the committee is appointed they could leave Atlanta at 1:30 p. m., and arrive in Chicago the next moming at 6:15. Returning they could leave Chicago at 8:30 p. m and arrive in Atlanta at 11:45 the next night. We would be delighted to have you go also. Please advise me if you take action in the matter.

Governor Northen will send this invitation to both branches of the assembly in a message.

A small sum will cover the cost of pre-

Mr. L. H. Muller, a well known citizen of Atlanta, died suddenly at his home No. 133 Fraser street, yesterday afternoon at 6:30 o'clock.

He was apparently as well as usual when he left his home yesterday morning and during the day he manifested no unpleasant feelings of any kind. But when he returned to his residence about nightfall he complained of feeling yery unwell.

Scaredy had he entered the house when a very peculiar sensation came over him. He reeled and fell to the floor but before any assistance could be rendered he breathed his last.

Mr. Muller was well and favorably known in Atlanta where, for several years, he has lived the life of a quiet and popular citizen. He was in the employ of Mr. A. Daws, a well known saloon keeper, for quite a while, and won the esteem and confidence of his employer by his strict attention to business. His death will be a great surprise to his many friends who will be pained to hear of his sudden death.

The pins of genuine tortoise shell are in perfect taste, and are beautifully carved, but it is in those of gold and silver that women-kind chiefly revel. One of the pretitest looks like the finest lace, so delicate is the wire of which the head is fashioned. This design comes in both gold and silver.

The enameled and jeweled pins are things of beauty and joys forever. Nothing could be a more charming Christmas gift for a blue-eyed blonde maiden than one of gold enameled in tiny blue stars that remind one of forgetme-nots set among golden butter-cups. A counterpart to this one has thy diamonds in place of the enameled stars. Placed in the piled-up masses of blue-black hair, it would rival, but not outshine, the glow of lustrous southern eyes.

There are roses with petals of frosted gold, on which lies a diamond, like the tears which morning sheds ere the world has awakened, pansies whose purple and golden hues seem to have been made in nature's great workshop, so perfect is the initiation, and all these designed as mountings for the plus which dainty, luxurious, charming woman thrusts into her hair.

Maler & Berkele are showing some especially beautiful designs in this line. All are perfect samples of artistic design and work-masship.

CONVICTS GEORGIA

The Lease System Roundly Attacked in the Legislature.

A VERY IMPORTANT BILL BOBS UP.

Numerous Resolutions Calling for an Investigation of the Practice of the Lessees—Sensational Legislation.

It seems from the tendency of legislation in the house that the legislature is deter-mined to have no more of the convict lease system after the present leases expire. Several bills have been put on first read ing in the house touching on this point. Two were introduced yesterday with such a purpose in view and a resolution was also introduced to have a joint committee appointed consisting of five from the huose and three from the senate to look into the convict lease act of 1876 and see if is has not here yield. not been violated.

All these movements seem to indicate that here is considerable antagonism in the ouse to the present system. Some sensational developments, it is rumored, will grow out of the transactions of the house and senate following up the introduction of these measures that were filed with the clerk yesterday.

Mr. Bennett, of ic young member from south Georgia, has given the movement definite shape by laying a bill before the house to entirely break up the system when the leases expire and put all the convict laborers to work on the county roads of the state.

important sections of the bill setting forth its purposes read thus:

Section 1. Be it enacted by the general assembly of the state of Georgia, and it is hereby enacted by authority of the same, that from and after the expiration of the hereby enacted by authority of the same, that from and after the expiration of the leases authorized by an act entitled an act to regulate the leasing out of penitentiary convicts by the governor, authorizing him to make contracts in relation thereto, and for other purposes approved February 26, 1876; All persons convicted of crime in this state, both felonies and misdemeanors, shall be worked upon the public roads of this state. Section 2. Be it further cuacted, That each senatorial district of this state is hereby declared a road district, and there shall be appointed for each of said districts a road commission, to consist of one member from each county composing the district, who shall be appointed by the judge of the superior court of the respective counties upon the recommendation of the grand jury of the same, each county appointing its own member. The first appointments under this act shall be made on or before the first day of January in the year 189—, and as soon as practicable after the members in each district are appointed they shall meet at some point in the district, to be fixed by the judge of the superior court making the first appointment for the district and shall determine by lot the term of office of the members fhereof. In districts composed of three counties the term of office shall be one, two and three years, and if a district contains more than three counties the fourth and fifth members of the board shall be assigned by lot to a term of two and three years, and there fore all appointments shall be made for three years. Vacancies from any cause shall be filled in the same manner for the unexpired term of the member whose seat is vacant.

The bill proceeds to provide that each commissioner shall appoint a chief overseer of the convicts, who shall be a man with some knowledge of engineering so that he can superintend the work of laying out the county roads and grading them to the best advantage.

The commissioners shall have fulll power

The commissioners shall have full power and control of the convicts so far, as the erecting of enmps and barracks are concerned, and shall keep them at no other work than the repairing of the public roads. The work shall be as near uniform all over the state as possible.

The expense of working the road with these convicts shall be paid by levying a tax based upon the pro rata of taxable property of each country as shown by the tax digest. This tax shall be collected as other taxes are and shall be used simply to cover the expenses of keeping the conto cover the expenses of keeping the convicts in comfort and health while at work on the county roads.

on the county roads.

The law is not to repeal any law now in vogue governing the work on county roads, nor the laws concerning the building of bridges, as this is a permanent system aside from the temporary working of roads. Mr. Bennett Talks.

peaking of the bill Mr. Bennett said to Speaking of the bill Mr. Bennett said to a Const. aution representative:

"I realize that there must be a change in our present convict lease system. In southern Georgia in nearly all the large saw mills the laborers have been turned out and convicts substituted; and a great many poor men who were dependent on their wages for a living was turned out on the mercies of the country.

"If the principle of this bill can be carried into effect it will remedy two great evils in our state.

"First, the opposition to free labor in which the convicts are at present being worked.

"Second, it will improve the public roads worked.

"Second, it will improve the public roads of our state, which certainly need attention at the hands of the state. The people of my section are very much interested in this question, and my bill is in accordance with the idea I have of solving the question; and as the convict lease system expires in a few years I think it is time the question was being agitated. If any one has a better scheme than mine I am ready to accept it,"

Mr. Graham's Idea.

meady to accept it."

Mr. Graham, of Appling, fired in a bill also antagonizing the lease. He has reference especially to its operation in southern Georgia.

Speaking on the line of policy set forth in his measure he said:

"The sum being paid by the lessees for state convicts is extremely small—say about $9 or $10 per year—and their profix have been prodigious.

"Therefore I see no reason why these lessees should not be held to a strict compliance with the terms of the lease act.

"This act known as the general lease act was passed in 1876. It provides that the lessees shall be a body corporate for the term of the lease and known as the Georgia Penitentiary Company; and that said company shall select a site or place at which they shall build guard houses, hospitals, etc., and this place or site shall be known as the Georgia penitentiary of this state. This act further provides that all convicts not engaged in mining, working on roads, canals, in quarries or making brick' shall be kept at said place or site known as the penitentiary and there worked at such work as they are able to perform.

"In my opinion the lessees cannot take the convicts away from the place or site known as the 'penitentiary' and work them legally at any work except mining, working on roads, canals, in quarries and in making brick. It is apparent that the general assembly passing the lease act intended that there should be some fixed place or site known as the Georgia penitentiary of this state.

"The lessees, it seems, have placed a different construction on it. Whenever there

"Well, I should say it does.
"Not only does it injure those who make a living by laboring at sawmills, but it injures the farmers and merchants who live near these mills. The laborer who receives his wages at a sawmill spends more or less money in purchasing the farmers' products and merchants' goods. The convict spends nothing; he benefits none except his owners—the lessees.

uracturing this one body of timber into lumber.

"It is a vicious system that permits saw-mill owners to drive honest, needy, hardworking, free laborers and their families from their mills and employ an army of criminal slaves to take their places.

"I do not believe the lessees have the right to establish these temporary convict camps for working the convicts at sawmills, and therefore I introduced resolutions requesting the governor to adopt such proceeding as he may deem expedient and effectual to prevent the lessees from establishing these camps for the purpose of working the convicts at sawmills."

A few days ago Major Bacon, of Bibb, preduced a bill to prevent the gobbling railroad bends and stocks by syndind trust companies to the detriment minority stockholders, wresting the the minority stockholders, wresting the trol of those companies from the minor-holders. Yesterday he followed up the he had previously introduced with two three others, which are intended to three others, which are intended to hand in hand with it in the purpose of the transactions the railroad investors.

The bills that went to the clerk's desk were calculated to bring Major Bacon rable prominence as the leader he house in matters pertaining to rail-

Major Bacon said:

All of these bills were intended to break the wrecking of railroad companies in the state by speculators.

One of these bills relative to railroads reduced by me in the house this mornar are intended to accomplish the same all designed in the former bill I introced relevant to the holding of stocks wilroads by trustees, incorporations, do forth.

All of these bills were intended to break the wrecking of railroad companies in its state by speculators.

One of these bills limits the amount stocks and bonds which can be issued a railroad company and is designed ricularly to protect the interest of minity stockholders in railroad companies. The other bill introduced by me this morning pursuance of the same design, makes weeking of a railroad company a felony, mishable by a heavy fine and imprisonant in the penitentiary. If these bills as, the railroad wreckers will not find the recting of railroads in Georgia hereafter, iter as profitable or as funny as it has an to them in the past.

He let loose on them yesterday with a resolution which provides that since the laws of Georgia already prohibit any corporation from buying up the stock of another to an extent calculated to lessen competition, therefore the governor shall be instructed to have the attorney general prosecute the violators of such laws and push the case until a final decree is reached, preventing such destruction of competition between the corporations.

To Hasten Telegrams.

Colonel Bill Smith, of Gwinnett, wants to call the telegraph companies to taw.

He has introduced a bill in the house which was read the first time yesterday, the purpose of which is to make the telegraph companies doing business in Georgia hurry up with the messages entrusted to them after the same have been filed.

The way in which Colonel Smith seeks to do this is to require that the telegraph companies transmit on the face of every message the exact date, hour and minute the telegram was filed so that the receiver of said message can keep track of the company and know if any negligence has been played. To Hasten Telegrams.

To Make Dogs Property.

Hon. William H. Fleming introduced a bill in the house yesterday to make dogs bill in the house yesterday to make dogs property.

According to the present laws of Georgia dogs are not held as personal property any more than are the common wild animals of the forest. If a man should steal another's dog there is no law to punish him for it, and some of the courts have held that a dog tax law is unconstitutional because the dog is not a taxable article, being no man's personal property.

Hence it can be seen that Mr. Fleming's bill is no inconsiderable one. It carries much weight with it, everything considered.

The Senate.

The senate.

The senate was just forty-five minutes by the clock yesterday clearing the clerk's desk of business. It was a short horse and it was soon curried.

President Clay remarked to the senators that if they could get some of the representatives to allow them to introduce local bills the business of the assembly could be dispatched more rapidly. The senate is waiting for measures to come over from the house. The lower branch will soon begin to pour legislation into the senate.

Two bills came over yesterday and were immediately acted on. Both were amending the charter of the city of Griffin, and were read the first time and referred.

The Equalization Laws.

was presented by Senator Smith, of the thirty-fourth.

When the session first opened nearly a dozen bills were offered repealing the equalization act of the last general assembly. One in the senate passed the committee all right and went through without a murmur. The present law has its friends, however. Senator Smith retains the feature of the board of equalizers in his act, only he provides that there shall be three for each militia district instead of five for a county, as now. This board is to be appointed by the commissioners of roads and revenues, or where there are no such commissioners, then by the ordinaries. The tax receiver is retained in Mr. Smith's bill. He is to receive all returns, but is not to put any of receive all returns, but is not to put any of them on his books until they are approved and accepted by the board for the district in which the property returned is located. In case a taxpayer thinks his property should be accepted by the receiver and the latter does not agree on the figures, an appeal can be taken to the district board. For their services the equalizers are to receive $2 a day while at work.

The law is not to go into effect until it is recommended by the grand jury of a county. Senator Smith's idea is that three men from each militia district will be so well acquainted with the property in their district that they can estimate its cash market value very correctly.

On motion of Senator Robbe, a committee on hygiene was added to the senate committees, but the members were not announced. Mr. Morris Keepe His Seat.

The committee on privileges and elections reached a vote in the contested election case yesterday between the sitting member, Mr. Morris, third partyite, and Mr. Bartlett, democrat from the county of Paulding. They voted to allow Mr. Morris to keep his seat, the evidence not being sufficient to show cause why he should not have the certificate of memebrship from Paulding.

The Central City Will Jubilate Next Thursday.

KILLED ON THE RAILROAD TRACK

Scheme to Advertise Macon-The Grand Jury Investigating the Gambling. Candidates for Federal Offices.

Macon, Ga., November 14.-(Special.)-This is a week of Cleveland jubilees. Georgia, from mountain to the seaboard ounds with the shouts of enthusiastic sons and daughters of the south, and the boom of cannon echoes everywhere.

When everybody is rejoicing, Macon, the Central City of the south, and her sister cities in central and southern Georgis will not be behind. No glad shout will be raised with more sincerity, no cannon will belch forth its royal welcome to the incoming president, no trumpet will herald the approach of prosperity in the south with more earnestness, more feeling and more noise than those that will be heard in Macon next Thursday afternoon and night.

Unselfish in her desire for a grand jubilee, in which the citizens of all parts of the state contiguous to Macon can take part, Macon postponed her jubilee till Thursday night next, but the delay magnifies the celebration of the victory that was achieved by the democracy of the United States and principally by the democrats of the south on Tuesday last.

Already the silver-tongued orators of Georgia have signified their intention of being present and on the afternoon of next Thursday will address the assembled people from platforms erected on Mulberry street for that purpose.

It is almost unnecessary to enumerate the speakers. Every one knows that distance will count but little to him who would hear the expressions of patriotism from such men as John B. Gordon, J. C. C. Black, W. H. Northen, Fleming duBignon, Dupont Guerry, J. L. Hardeman Weston Patterson, Evan P. Howell, Hoke Smith and other leaders who participated principally in the fight for Cleveland that lasted from June to November. Emotion imprisoned in the bosom of the electors of a great party will find vent in such a noise as never before-even at the time when Grover Cleveland was first elected to the presidential chair-rolled its volumes of sound from the seven hills of Macon.

The invitation is not limited. Every one is invited and it is hoped by the committee on invitation that every one will come. Macon throws open her gates to the democracy of the state. Her citizens have spared and will spare no expense to make the occasion worthy of the cause for such jubilation.

Atlanta, Augusta, Columbus, Savannah, Athens, Griffin, Americus, Thomasville, Albany-all, and every town and village of importance in the state that has dem-ocratic enthusiasm sufficient to muster a band of loyal democrats is invited and ndoubtedly will send a delegation to Macon. Those who have bands of music will come and join them with the concord of music. Four thousand torches are already on hand waiting for men willing to carry them in procession. A store of the horns and trumpets is on hand sufficient to supply the wants of every democrat who comes to Macon. Fire-works are here in plenty. The cannons have already been put in position and by Thursday morning will be loaded to the muzzle ready to belch forth their welcome to the visitors from every part of the Macon proposes to turn herself loose on this occasion. After citizens, young and old, are united in the determination to celebrate the day and to outdo all others in their demonstrations of joy.

And so, to young and old, in every section of the state, this invitation is extended.

Come and help us shout for Grover.

Killed on the Track.

The East Tennessee local train from Hawkinsville came in this morning carrying the body of Sidney Mullen, a negro boy who had taken the rail as a pillow and gone to sleep on the track.

The accident happened about four miles below Macon in the Ocmulgee swamp. Mullin and another negro left Macon last night for Empire, where they expected to get work. Both of them lay down on the track and went to sleep and were undisturbed by the rumble of the train, neither did the engineer see them until he was turbed by the rumble of the train, neither did the engineer see them until he was within thirty feet of them.

Mullin made an effort to escape, but was struck on the head by the footboard of the cars and brained. His companion was more fortunate and rolled out of the way just in the nick of time. Coroner Knight assembled a jury and a verdict was returned absolving the East Tennessee of all blame.

The grand jury of Bibb county commenced this morning an investigation of the gambling that took place at Central City park during the holding of the state fair.

The number of witnesses necessary in this investigation was unusually large and it will take some time to exhaust the evidence on hand. It is highly probable that the jury will find true bills against all of the gamblers who have been in jail ever since the wholesale arrest was made at the park on the last day of the fair. It is quite probable also that some spicey developments may be an outcome of the investigation now going on.

THE NEW YORK MARKET. The Day on the Floor of the New York Stock

NEW YORK, November 14.—The stock market, generally speaking, opened a fraction higher than the closing figures of Saturday, Distilling and Cattle Feeding having made an exceptional advance of 11-2 per cent to 661-4. Subsequently Louisville and Nashville rose 11-8, partly on London buying. The upward movement was checked by a determined raid upon Reading, which was sold in large blocks throughout the day. The price declined from 57 to 55 3-4 without any raillies worth mentioning, the weakness being sold in large blocks throughout the day. The price declined from 57 to 55 3-4 without any rallies worth mentioning, the weakness being attributed to the talk about the appointment of receivers for the various properties in the coal combination by the New Jersey courts. Brokers usually identified with leading bear operators were the heaviest sellers and the existence of large short interest is indicated by the borrowing demands. One leading house alone is lending upwards of 25,000 shares. The entire list was sold with considerable freedom during the afternoon and some of the smaller traders were frightened out of their holdings. General Electric, American Cotton Oil and National Lead declined 2 per cent and the other industrials to 11-2 per cent. The losses in the railroad list were 1-2 to 11-4 per cent, out of Lackawanna, which yielded 2 1-8. Atchison, Union Pacific, Missouri Pacific and the Grangers were especially weak near the close. Distilling and Cattle Feeding, Louisville and Nashville and Baltimore and Ohio were the only stocks that showed net gains for the day. The advances in these cases were 1-4(al-2) per cent. The feature of the day's operations was the buying for London accounts, which was on a more extensive scale than for some time. The market closed weak. Sales, listed 341,000 and 58,000 unlisted shares.

By Private Wire to B. W. Martin, Manager.

NEW YORK, November 14.—Europe surprised people by buying about 8,000-shares stocks at the opening, and the buils said they were going to twist the short interest today but there was considerable stock for sale by small holders and during the afternoon the general market was weak all through the list. The reason for this weakness, as we have said repeatedly of late, is that speculative holdings of stocks are in comparatively weak hands, and that the bulls who are working the market at present are not those whom we care to follow. It looked to us to-day as if Mr. Gould were taking a hand in speculation and we are of the opinion that he is working for lower prices. The weakest stock was again Reading which declined on tremendous transactions, and closed near the lowest of the day. Mr. McLeod is undertaking too much and some people sold stock today as it is said that miles and miles of care loaded with coal are on side tracks waiting to come to this port. The price of coal has been advanced to such a figure that the consumption has decreased to quite some extent and the combination which started out with such a hurrah is anything but a success. We do not see how we can get a bull market at present and we advise our friends to sell stocks on every rally.

in increasing their reserve stocks on the basis of a 7,000,000-bale crop at the present time. This advice from an authority who is usually in favor of higher prices appears to have more than offset the light receipts of Saturday, and Liverpool closes barely steady at 3,24-54d lower than last Saturday. Our market opened easy at 10 points decline from the close, but quickly railied on the light movement st Memphis and the Atiantic ports. The market has been a very nervous and sensitive one, fluctuating rapidly within a range of 166212 points, as the orders have carried the market with them, Receipts at the ports and interior towns are comparatively very light, and are expected to be light again tomorrow. A rather quieter tone to business is to be noted, as the decline in Liverpool has checked the confidence in a further advance among the outside interests, who have been largely interested in the long side during the recent advance. A new feature of the situation was the attention called to the anti-option bill this morning by The Sun. Their Washington correspondent states the bill will come up for immediate action by the senate on their reassembling in December. As the disastrous effects upon prices by the discussion of the still in June is well remembered by the friends of cotton, the natural effect is to create a conservative feeling and a disposition to curtail business. It has been a liquidating market all the afternoon on the part of the stronger long interest who wished to realize their profits after this recent advance. The tone of the market at the close was steady, though the vim the market displayed last week was lacking.

Lehman Bros.' Cotton Letter.

By Private Wire to B. W. Martin, Manager.

NEW YORK, November 14—Liverpool advices this morning were discouraging, the decline of 2@3-64d being a very poor response the better prices sent them from here Saturday. Under these circumstances we here opened at a decline of about 10 points, but not long after the opening again recovered this entire deline, owing to the liberal buying orders received from the south. Europe, however, and mainly Liverpool, continued-to sell large selling orders, which again resulted in a loss of the entire earlier improvement, the market closing steady at about 8 points lower than Saturday's close. Our friends cable us from Liverpool attributing the weakness there to Ellison's figures. We understand that he makes the India crop this year 459,000 and Egypt 50,000 bales more than last year, and the English consumption about 100,000 bales less, from which he draws his deductions that a crop of 7,000,000 American cotton with present prices is sufficient. Our friends also refer to the strikes in Lancashire, and any that people are placing more importance Lehman Bros.' Cotton Letter. shire, and say that people are placing more importance thereto just now. With all this, however, and the heavy selling movement from abroad, our market has shown great stability and strength. The receipts continue abnormally small, the ports tomorrow being estimated at about 50,000 bales, as against 78,000 bales for corresponding day last year. Augusta, Memphis and St. Louis also report a very moderate movement. These factors may again change the feeling in Liverpool. However, many are of the impression that a reaction is now due and we ourselves to a certain extent concur in this opinion, although we have absolutely no reason to change the hitherto favorable views we have so persistently expressed, and we still continue to advocate purchases on all soft spots, believing that with the present course of receipts chances are decidedly in favor of ultimately higher prices still.

At Piedmont park, each day of the carnial week, there will be attractions and ements galore. Trained horses, bicyde racing and balloon ascensions; athletic ises, footraces and football games; all all a series of entertainments that in elves should prove a drawing card. Then there will be two grand night paes; one the trades display on Wednesday ming, fully three miles in length, and he other, the carnival procession on Friday sight with its illuminated floats upon which will be handsomely dressed ladies and genmen to represent the mythical figures. The railroads have given a one-cent rate for today and the town is filled with visitors, a great many of whom will take part in the torch-light procession tonight. The stores are all decorated and Atlanta has on her festive garments; and with all the merchants giving a half holiday the more interest will be aroused.

Today's Programme. The reception of the sultan who will arve at 11:30 o'clock a. m., is the first ing on the day's official programme. His majesty will be met at the union depot by the following organizations besides a large number of his loyal admirers.

From the capitol the procession will go out to Piedmont park, where an interesting arogramme will be rendered.

At 1:30 o'clock there will be a concert by the military band.

Miss Myrtie Peek and her performing horses are the next feature. Miss Peek will run a chariot race and give an exhibition of bare-back riding.

At 2 o'clock—balloon ascention and parachate leap by the English balloonist, Mr. Stanley Spencer.

The su tan Arrives in New York.

Aspecial, dated from New York, Sunday, November 12th exercis.

A special, dated from New York, Sunday, Nevember 13th, says:
The sultan of Turkey arrived here today a route to the Atlanta carnival festivities. He was received with all the pomp due a sovereign of his standing, but there was very little demonstration as it was Sunday. "The Turkish minister pleni-potentiary was in the city to receive his royal master and the ambassador from Constantinople 783 one of the few admitted to the sultan's presence.

Mayor-elect Gilroy and Hon. Richard Croker left New York on the sultan's private car, having accepted an invitation to in atlanta on next Tuesday, the opening of the carnival and the occasion of a grand Cleveland torchlight parade and fire-works celebration. Gilroy and Croker will both make speeches."

make speeches."

Weather Predictions.

Although it was raining yesterday, Mr. Park Morrill, of the Georgia weather bureau service, said that it would very likely clear off today at noon. The forecast for the rest of the week is clear and cool. If the carnival week is attended with fair weather it will be an assured success. And even with a few days of clearing up the best attractions will be placed before the people and the visitors will come again to our next gala week, and in larger numbers.

The meeting day.

The board of carnival directors held their usual meeting yesterday and all the chairmen were present.

Chiel Marshal West and his aides were on hand and finished the last detail of their work.

CLEVELAND'S MAJORITY. It Will Be Less Than Governor Northen's Was Last Month.

Was Last Month.

Governor Northen and General Phil Cook, secretary of state, began the count yesterday of the election returns. They started early and worked steadily all day. The governor did not go home for dinner, but he and General Cook ate a hasty lunch in the capitol, and resumed their monotonous job. When they started, the returns for Glasscock and Madison were not in, but they came during the day.

Judging from the districts counted, Mr. Cleveland's majority in the state will be considerably below that of Governor Northen's in October.

The aggregate majority of the democratic congressmen in the first, second and third districts is about 13,000. That is Colonel Lester, Ben Russell and Judge Crisp averaged about 4,300 majority each. Some of the congressmen ran ahead of the electors.

The republicans carried a few counties and the third party carried several, especially in the tenth. Putnam county went almost solidly democratic.

The indications are that Mr. Cleveland's majority will be in the neighborhood of 45,000. The count will be completed today.

"Does its owny-dony itty petty love its ducky?" sighed the young man from New York.

"Yes," responded the beautiful Boston girl.
"Its particular and favorite little possession cherishes a strong affection for its water fowl of the order anseres."

And He Didn't Care a Rap. From The Atchison Globe.

If she calls the dress she puts on before breakfast a "breakfast gown," you may know she is a bride. After she has been married a year it becomes an old wrapper.

Can They Hear Themselves Think?

From The New York World.
According to European savans the sound made by files, when heard through a microphone, is extremely like the neighing of a horse in the distance.

THE ARAGON HOTEL.

At Six O'Clock Last Evening It Was Formally Opened.

BISHOP NELSON REGISTERED FIRST

An Elegant Banquet Was the Six O'Clock Dinner-The Cannon Fired and the Doors Were Opened.

At 2:30 o'clock yesterday the Hotel Aragon was opened with the booming of cannon and the waving of flags. Just at the hour mentioned Manager B. K. Tice fired the Aragon cannon, the flag was hoisted and Atlanta had a splendidly equipped hotel at her service.

The Aragon will be conducted on both the European and American plans, and, in the hands of such efficient gentlemen as those in charge, can be nothing but a suc-

At 6 o'clock last night dinner was serve to a number of invited guests and during the evening music was discoursed by a fine crchestra. The tables were beautifully decorated with handsome flowers and ever-greens and the courses were elegantly

The first name on the register is that of THE BEST. Bishop Nelson, who, with his wife, will stop at the Aragon.

> Hotel Aragon is a handsome structure and is six stories in height. The inside is beautifully finished and the interior of the rooms and the furnishings are on the same order—handsome. There are four hydraulic elevators—one for passengers and one for freight. In the hotel there are just one hundred and twenty-five rooms for guests.
